MONTREAL FASHION WEEK HIGHLIGHTS - DAY 2

FÉVRIER 8TH, 2012

POSTED BY NINA MOURIN AT 12:14 PM

My split personality, one-part editor, one-part consumer, forces me to mention two key shows from last night: Martin Lim and Eve Gravel.

On the other hand, there's Eve Gravel, Montreal's very-own sweetheart. Gravel understands her playful and girly consumer. For her Fall/Winter 2012 collection, she created an "Algonquin meets girl next door" collection with her hipster chick in mind.

Described as "Urban Wilderness", the retro-throwback ponchos, sleeveless vests, and over-sized heritage sweater separates are topped with rachel.f fur chapeaux.

The very cozy and wearable collection is form fitting, feminine and stylish.
Everything the modern urbanite wants to wear.
