A few weeks ago, Eve Gravel, a local designer I especially love, asked me to wear her summer collection, while creating a "Garden Party" environment. I liked the idea of bringing spring back with a fun theme and a garden-party-box.

I asked Carolane from TPL if we could shoot in her backyard, because she has the best place to recreate a garden party. She went for a more "pique-nique" look, while I opted for Glamping (camping + glam haha). I then chose this amazing two-piece set from Eve Gravel to style. A matching set is definitely the way to my heart. We then shot this on a rainy day, so that explains the poring rain on my hat on and the table.
